SAFE HARBOUR STATEMENT

DISCLAIMER

This presentation includes forward-looking statements. Words such as “anticipates”, “believes”, “estimates”, “expects”, “intends”, “plans”, “projects”, “may” and similar expressions are used to identify these forward-looking statements. Examples of forward-looking statements include statements made about strategy, ramp-up and delivery schedules, introduction of new products and services and market expectations, as well as statements regarding future performance and outlook.

By their nature, forward-looking statements involve risk and uncertainty because they relate to future events and circumstances and there are many factors that could cause actual results and developments to differ materially from those expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements.

• These factors include but are not limited to:

  – Changes in general economic, political or market conditions, including the cyclical nature of some of Airbus Group’s businesses;
  – Significant disruptions in air travel (including as a result of terrorist attacks);
  – Currency exchange rate fluctuations, in particular between the Euro and the U.S. dollar;
  – The successful execution of internal performance plans, including cost reduction and productivity efforts;
  – Product performance risks, as well as programme development and management risks;
  – Customer, supplier and subcontractor performance or contract negotiations, including financing issues;
  – Competition and consolidation in the aerospace and defence industry;
  – Significant collective bargaining labour disputes;
  – The outcome of political and legal processes including the availability of government financing for certain programmes and the size of defence and space procurement budgets;
  – Research and development costs in connection with new products;
  – Legal, financial and governmental risks related to international transactions;
  – Legal and investigatory proceedings and other economic, political and technological risks and uncertainties.

As a result, Airbus Group’s actual results may differ materially from the plans, goals and expectations set forth in such forward-looking statements.

For a discussion of factors that could cause future results to differ from such forward-looking statements, see Airbus Group “Registration Document” dated 5 April 2016.

Any forward-looking statement contained in this presentation speaks as of the date of this presentation. Airbus Group undertakes no obligation to publicly revise or update any forward-looking statements in light of new information, future events or otherwise.
